Christmas
SCENTED NARCISSI

HELLO FROM Churchtown Farm...

One of the great joys, and to be honest challenges, of running a flower farm on a small island is finding people to join our team. Over the years they have come from far and wide, bringing with them many skills and talents. Way back in 2007, Martin, a skilled filmmaker, arrived and we leapt on the opportunity to make a film about the farm. Martin did a great job but 12 years on it was time for an update.

Our new, beautifully shot, farm video can be watched on our website or the ScillyFlowers YouTube channel and will give you a real taste of where your flowers come from – enjoy!

Meet Luna & Ruby

Sisters in crime or, more frequently, grime. They're from the same litter but you can see that one takes after mum and the other dad. Ruby belongs to our field manager Jon and came to St Martin's first. On learning that her sister was yet to be housed, we couldn't resist.

One island Many hats

To make life happen on a small island, many people wear another hat and with no commute and few distractions, others develop their talents into useful side hustles.

So that person who dealt with your order or picked your flowers might well have another life.

ISLAND BARBER

Dispatch supervisor Warren qualified last year and ever since there has been a noticeable step-up in the quality of personal grooming around here.

COMMUNITY WEBSITE ORGANISER

Office manager Ruth keeps smartinsscilly.co.uk up to date and looking good. The go-to website for ANYthing you want to know about St Martin's.

 smartinsscilly.co.uk

HEAD OF THE COASTGUARD

Farm manager Jon heads up a team of eight (including Geoff the author) who hone their search and rescue skills, often by dangling off tall cliffs.

THE FIREFIGHTERS

---

Ben, the boss, and Jack, from the field team, practice every Tuesday, occasionally failing to resist the urge to use the nee-nahs on the fire tractor as they go past!

PANTREPRENEUR

Florist Josie is using her sewing skills to set up a business making cute pants from organic cotton.

AUTHOR

---

Geoff in the office team has just had his first book published! The Swordsman's Lament by G.M. White. Find it on Amazon, it's getting good reviews.

BROWNIE LEADER

Admin manager Jackie keeps Brownies going over the winter months when the girls can't be with the pack on St Mary's.

#CutChristmasClutter

Grown outdoors in the UK in small, traditional fields and sent in nearly plastic-free packaging. A box of scented narcissi has a lighter environmental impact than many other gifts.

Autumn colours

Autumn on the Isles of Scilly is not announced by shiny conkers or piles of leaves. Here it's thick sea mist, rust-red bracken, wild mushrooms and, of course, the first scented narcissi.

Seasonal change happens swiftly; some years summer stretches on into October but sometimes, like this year, the weather changes earlier and there is a rush to the beach to pull up boats. Autumn visitors can often find a whole beach to themselves and, if they time it right, they're able to join in with special events.

THIS YEAR....

The first St Martin's Food and Drink Festival was held. We celebrated a wide range of island produce from both land and sea. There were inspiring demonstrations, apple pressing, imaginative cakes and a lot of eating.

COME AND STAY NEXT AUTUMN

We have two holiday cottages to rent on the farm. They both have amazing sea views and are very comfortable whatever time of year you choose to visit.

 [scillyflowers.co.uk/
holiday-cottage](https://scillyflowers.co.uk/holiday-cottage)

NEXT YEAR....

Come and be a star visitor. When the sun sets, we enjoy VERY dark skies. To make the most of this, a group of enthusiastic island astronomers have built a fantastic community observatory. Starting on the 3rd October 2020, there will be a week of astronomical-themed events to enjoy on St Martin's. For more information, visit...
